Full Time

Information & Communication Technology, Security

Are you a hands on Pen Tester, looking to join a highly successful and growing consultancy new to the Australian market? If so, this role is absolutely for you!

With newly expanded operations in Australia, this hugely successful APAC Consultancy is looking to take the market by storm. With an innovative and next generation approach, you'll be joining a greenfield environment with the ability to own the Penetration Testing services and look to build out a practice as growth continues.

What does a day in the life look like?

- Undertaking application, network, iOS/Android, systems, and infrastructure pen tests for a diverse range of clients
- Perform social engineering tests and undertake secure code review
- Preparing high quality client reports recommending security improvements and identifying possible solutions
- Responsible for analysis, design, scheduling, construction, and delivery of client solutions, with backing from the wider APAC teams
- You'll succeed in this role if you like to take a lead from the front, and not need the dreaded 'micro manager'

Who are you?

Bringing a strong and significant history of Penetration Testing, you'll also bring to the role:

- Pen Testing certifications such as SANS, OSCP, CREST, CRT or CCT (apps or infra)
- Strong understanding of information security principles and technologies
- Proven experience in managing complex security assessments
- A start up mentality, and drive to be a part of a growing organization in Australia
- Excellent written and verbal communications skills – you'll be working closely with clients
